

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR CREATING A DOCUMENT HAVING METADATA

Abstract of Disclosure

The present application describes systems and methods for creating a document having metadata using a pointing device such as a digital pen. In one configuration, a digital pen captures pen stroke data and processes that data to determine metadata that the pen then writes to metadata storage located on the document.

Figures